

Global Monopoly Strike Plan

The new country built as one could have not the names of any of the past countries. A new start. We won't keep any of the holidays from past nations, except maybe for New Years. All other holidays still exist but not on a national calendar. We can even design it so that there are no leaders or supervisors.

We can have this start before or after the strike, merging into one. We are mainly striking for the merging into one with the strike continuing with those who stand for more.

Strike wave one :

In support for global monopoly and 3 to 6 months of PTO

Strike wave two:

In support of building a city in the future that we all move to. Moving one location separates humans from nature and eliminates energy and labor needed for travel. The city is a moneyless city where we all have equal sized apartments (1,500 sq ft), we all work equal amounts and have equality in goods and services.

Strike wave three:

In support of choosing the hair color of the future human race to be a medium or light color. All people today could be related to all of those with medium and light hair.

We initiate the strike by giving the whole world a warning. The warning is to stock up on water and dried foods because if large amounts of people are going to strike then we may not be ready for not having people to work grocery stores or even water and power. It's very likely that the military wouldn't be able to strike since they signed a 4 year contract. The military, government and corporations would be making plans to make it work. Either they have robots ready or the military is now bringing citizens their food to stores.

We will have people all over the planet able to be able to offer their land for those to strike and live there. Donated land will be prepared for lasting a strike that could last a century or longer with other backup plans.

We will have our own servers and wifi for local in strike zone communications. The strike zones would also need at least the owner of the land to be able to get updates from outside the internet giving updates on the strike or if we succeeded.

Designs for what we can build on these plots of land will be made in the future. People can volunteer to work jobs like security, food productions, cooking, cleaning and IT. Those who volunteered will be able to have more comfortable living and sleeping arrangements. Microstudios compared to sleeping outdoors in tents. People who volunteer may be working 10 or 20 hours a week depending on what the needs turn out to be.

We can even have plans for one to be able to build a factory for clothing or other things we may need if the strike ends up lasting 200 or so years. Still able to be decided late in time before the strike or during the strike.

People can be a part of the strike and stay in their own homes if they can afford to without going to work.
